Heat Transfer Society & IChemE's Fluid Separations Special Interest Group – One Day Conference

We are thrilled to announce the Heat Transfer Society and the IChemE's Fluid Separations Special Interest Group will be hosting the highly anticipated one day conference, scheduled to take place at University College London on Friday, 28th March 2025. This event will be followed by the 59th HTS Annual Dinner at the Grand Connaught Rooms.

Mark your calendars now for this one-day event which will bring industry leaders, and experts to explore the role of heat transfer and fluid separation in the energy transition sector, focusing on the challenges of hydrogen, carbon capture and ammonia. Whether you are a seasoned professional or at the early stages of your journey in industry this conference promises to deliver insights, networking opportunities and inspiration.

A call for speakers will be issued in early September for responses in October. Further details, including keynote speakers, and registration information will be shared later in the year. The purpose of this notice is to encourage you to submit ideas for topics, keynote speakers, and suggestions to be incorporated into the planning of the event.

Feel free to share this notice with any colleagues or contacts who may be interested. If you have ideas or suggestions, submit them to Simon Parsons, Honorary Secretary, Tel.: 020 8313 1235 or Email: secretary@hts.org.uk
